$995 p/person

Course Objectives & Goals:

Explain the purpose and content of the core management system documents: ISO 27001, ISO 27002 and ISO 19011.

Interpret the requirements of ISO 27001 in the context of an audit.

Describe roles and responsibilities of internal auditors and internal audit team leaders.

Plan and conduct an audit as described in ISO 19011, demonstrating ability to:

- plan and prepare effectively.
- gather objective evidence.
- analyze and interpret information to determine conformity.
- conduct follow up activities, including evaluation of corrective actions.

Upon completion of this course, delegates should have an understanding of the complete auditing process, the responsibilities and skills required of an internal auditor and internal audit team leader; how to plan and organize an audit, and how to evaluate and report audit results.

This course is conducted by a 9001/27001 lead auditor with an in-depth insight to the intricacies of the standard and how it integrates with other ISO standards,

Students will receive digital coursebooks, however hard copies are available for an additional fee.

A considerable discount is applied for multiple students from the same company.
